

EULESS TODAY

Dear Citizens,

We are so proud to announce the GRAND OPENING of the Euless Heritage Museum at the Ruth Millican Center. Our Historical Preservation Committee has spent many hours collecting and assembling the large amount of artifacts donated to the museum. The museum is truly a beautiful as well as educational facility in our city. Thank you to all who have had a part in making this happen.

Summer days and dry weather continue so we encourage you to conserve water and electricity and be careful using your outside grills. If partaking in outdoor activities, do wear mosquito repellent.

Your city council and staff are working diligently to bring you a balanced budget with no tax increase for 2012-2013. The budget will be approved in September.

Do take advantage of all the activities provided in our recreational facilities and give thanks to the many volunteers who help make them possible.

Together we are working to build a better tomorrow.

201 Cullum Drive

Come experience the rich history of Euless at the grand opening of the Euless Heritage Museum at Ruth Millican Center. The new museum will open its doors for the first time to showcase Euless history. The new museum provides a place for residents to view the hundreds of collected and documented historical artifacts. Some of these artifacts date back to the 1880s. The museum features a military room, a 1930s kitchen, and a 1940s school room. The museum is adjacent to Heritage Park. Heritage Park is a historical area that features the first brick house in Euless, a log cabin dating from the 1850's, and a barn made of lumber from Camp Bowie after WWI. 9-11 Artifact

9-11 Artifact

201 N. Ector Drive

Last year, the City of Eules received an artifact from the World Trade Center. The artifact is a 12-foot long, 6,000-pound steel beam that is a relic from the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. This artifact is displayed in front of the Eules Fire Administration Building as a memorial to the thousands killed that tragic day. The memorial serves as a remembrance for September 11, 2001. May we never forget!

Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes can be more than just a simple irritation. They carry the threat of a variety of diseases, including West Nile, which can affect your family and your pets.

The City of Eules tries to reduce the number of mosquitos by being proactive. The city places gambusia affinis, mosquito fish, along with larvacide pellets in ponds, creeks, lakes, and drainage easements. This action helps fight mosquito infestation due to their ability to consume over 100 mosquito larvae a day, and tolerate hot weather, still water, and even common pollutants.

The City of Eules also helps protect residents with periodic spraying and by monitoring mosquitoes carrying the virus with mosquito surveillance traps. The spraying will cover the entire city and will not target specific areas. Mosquito spraying will be performed in the late evening while most of the city population is indoors. Mosquito spraying will not eliminate mosquitoes completely. We ask that residents help us take action against mosquito infestation. The most effective way to reduce mosquitoes in your neighborhood is to remove their breeding source — standing water. Thousands of mosquitoes can hatch from a puddle of water that is stagnant for at least four days.

Help eliminate mosquitoes:

- Get rid of containers in your yard or keep them empty of standing water
- Repair leaky pipes and outside faucets
- Change water in bird baths and scrub them twice a week
- If you have outside pets, empty their watering dishes daily
- Clean clogged roof gutters and drain flat roofs
- Remain indoors at dusk and dawn, when mosquitoes are most active
- Use insect repellent with the active ingredient DEET to avoid exposure to mosquitoes. Always read instructions before using insect repellent

If you have any questions or concerns regarding West Nile virus, please call Public Works, at 817-685-1580.
